International conference on hot isostatic pressing 6 - 10 April 2025

Sponsor and Exhibitor Packages

The 14th International Conference on Hot Isostatic Pressing will take place from 6 – 10 April 2025 in Aachen, Germany.

Hot isostatic pressing, well known as HIP, plays a decisive role in the manufacturing chain of many highly loaded materials, metallic alloys as well as ceramics, and components. In a lot of applications HIP substantially influences key factors such as product design, leadtime, quality and performance. HIP is currently used in a number of industry sectors that have highly demanding environments, for example: aerospace, energy, offshore, medical and tooling.

This conference covers research and development within the complete scope of HIP technology, from fundamental process development and materials technology over application related improvements and new developments in HIP equipment up to current market trends from all parts of the world.

A comprehensive and wide reaching marketing campaign with flyers, first / second announcements / call for papers, mailings, newsletters, website and much more brought, and continues to convey, the HIP 2025 message to the target groups.

We look forward to welcome you as a sponsor or exhibitor at the HIP 2025 conference and exhibition!
